Editorial and Advertising Opportunities for Reaching Nuclear Information Management Professionals

NIRMA provides your company with opportunities to generate leads, introduce new products, align with leaders in the nuclear industry and become a trusted member of this close-knit community.

The NIRMA membership is composed of dedicated professionals in nuclear information management (IM) and information technology (IT) who are actively engaged in meeting the challenges of IM and IT in a highly regulated environment. The NIRMA Newsletter extends the benefits of the NIRMA Annual Conference's unparalleled nuclear industry information sharing, networking and education throughout the year. Promoting your solutions through the NIRMA news extends your reach to this professional community in a unique and credible way that is only available through NIRMA publications.

As a not-for-profit professional association leading development of key industry guidance, NIRMA's publications are viewed as credible, professional sources of industry information, education, and professional advice to our members and others who turn to NIRMA when they need guidance and solutions.

NIRMA annually publishes three newsletters and one Conference magazine.
